Dear Volodymyr,

When Torden celebrated our first anniversary in 2014, we consisted of a small, experienced, focused team of professionals who shared the objective of establishing a company unlike any other defense contractor. We sought to establish a company based on a culture of providing the very best services and certainty to our clients and to every mission we support. Today, we have accomplished this objective in Afghanistan, Cameroon, Germany, Niger, Djibouti, Somalia, the United Kingdom, on board U.S. Naval Station Guantanamo Bay, and throughout the United States.

Our name is Torden. This is the Danish or Norse word for thunder. When you hear thunder, it causes you to take notice. Thunder is an impressive force of nature that blends into the environment. You can't see thunder's physical presence, but it affects your surroundings. Like thunder, Torden's goal is to make a powerful, positive impact on our environment, while perfectly blending into the missions we support.

Torden's logo is the Viking rune "Tyr" or the Viking letter "T." The rune "Tyr" has many relevant meanings. It represents the Viking's symbol for their god Tyr. To the Vikings, Tyr represented the proponent of justice and heroic glory. In Norse mythology, Tyr fought for justice and against those who wished harm to the Vikings. Today, the day of the week, Tuesday, comes from Tyr.

Since our company's beginning, the commitment and dedication of our employees have not changed. Thanks to your efforts, we continue to grow and prosper. I want to tell you how much we appreciate your commitment and service to us and to the United States Government. The investment of your time and talent drives Torden. Your outstanding contributions in support of the United States Forces Europe (USF-EU) mission and the Joint Multinational Training Group - Ukraine (JMTG-U) in Grafenwöhr is very appreciated.

I am very proud to celebrate your 6-month anniversary with Torden and am proud to have worked with you over the six months. We value the commitment that you make every day. Again, thank you for being a critical part of Torden.
